

A Revolutionary Solution In Tax Recruiting...

TaxJobs Elite service combines the advanced online recruiting technology with many of the same core principles of human communications and screening offered in retained searches.

Most HR and Tax leaders have been disappointed in the results they receive using online job boards and even social networking sites for filling open Tax positions.

The prospect of the internet providing the answer as the low cost, highly effective recruiting method has up to now not materialized.

◆ Why do online job ads simply not perform as expected?

The apply-first model online creates a conflict with top tier candidates and undermines response results to your ads.

Why would a qualified Tax professional send in their resume or even fill out an online application with their confidential information without first having the opportunity to have their basic questions about the position and company answered?

TaxJobs has developed the “Elite” service, a proactive and highly confidential recruiting process that harnesses the efficiency and cost effectiveness of the Internet combined with the personalized approach of an executive search firm that represents the open position to top candidates.

“Zimmer approached Tax-Talent to fill an overseas transfer pricing position, arguably a very specialized tax role. Tax Talent helped us develop a suitable job ad and networked us to candidates in the U.S. and abroad. Soon after the job was posted, we were amazed by the number of quality of candidates responding. Ultimately Tax-Talent led us to the perfect fit.

Thanks TaxTalent!
